Delivers Turnkey E-Commerce Development and Fulfillment Solution for Growing Businesses

READING, PA, December 8, 2008 – Landis Company, a leader in warehousing, fulfillment, and logistics services, today announced a strategic partnership with Advance Design Interactive, a proven provider of interactive marketing services, including website design and development, e-commerce solutions, and web marketing programs.

The partnership brings an end-to-end e-commerce solution to small and mid-sized businesses. Companies can now leverage the combined core competencies of Landis and Advance Design to fully implement and manage an online sales and distribution channel for their products and merchandise - from e-commerce site development, through to product warehousing, and third party fulfillment.

On the front end, Advance Design leverages its proven expertise to help businesses establish an online selling presence: including development and marketing of their e-commerce platform, site administration, order processing support, and integration with fulfillment center operations. Landis seamlessly manages all back-end functions of the online store: warehousing products in its state-of-the-art facility, managing orders through advanced technology, and providing turnkey pick and pack and bulk fulfillment support. Products are shipped to customers through Landis' in-house local transportation services or various common carrier relationships.

Sandy Butcher, Chief Executive Officer of Advance Design Interactive, commented, "We are pleased to have Landis as our new authorized partner for third party fulfillment. Landis' strategic location, extensive warehousing capabilities, and third party fulfillment and logistics expertise, make it ideally suited to support the back-end requirements of our small and mid-sized e-commerce customer base. The combination of our two companies' best-in-class capabilities will provide customers with a one-stop solution for managing and growing their Internet sales channel."

Rob Tompkins, President and CEO of Landis, added, "Joining forces with a proven leader like Advance Design enables Landis to offer our customers a powerful solution for e-commerce site development and administration. Through this partnership with Advance Design, we can better help our customers establish a strategic online distribution channel, resulting in a new revenue source for their business."
